Nightly Drug Store Robbers Trapped by Negro Messenger Boy, Who Follows Youths and Then Hunts Up Officers

POLICE NIP IN BUD SERIES OF ROBBERIES

In Early Morning, Two Burglars Taken Looting Grocery—Negro Holds Up Pedestrian—Rooft Prowler Is Locked Up

Stuart Taylor and Eric May, boy bandits of Minneapolis, Minn., being only 19 and 17 years of age, are behind the bars at police station, charged with the bold robbery last night of the Stevens & Hawks drug store at the corner of West Peachtree and Fourteenth streets, the youthful pair having confessed to this robbery and also to the bold hold-up Wednesday night of the pharmacy at the corner of Peachtree and North avenue.

Following the West Peachtree street robbery, they were surveying the drug stores at the corner of Peachtree and Tenth streets with the purpose of raiding one of them when they were approached by officers, tipped off by a negro messenger boy who had followed them from the Stevens & Hawks store.

In addition to this hold-up, the police were kept busy late Thursday night and early Friday morning investigating robberies.

At the result two men were arrested for breaking into a Rogers grocery store, a negro was captured after an attempted effort to rob a pedestrian, and a young white man was put under arrest for prowling on the roof of a downtown business house, making a total of six arrests for four attempted crimes.

Taylor was arrested about half an hour after he had gone into a drug store at Tenth and Peachtree, this time minus his mask, presumably for the purpose of looking the place over in preparation for another hold-up.

The young bandit was caught by Officers Harrison and McDaniels after he had been pointed out to them by Marvin Morrison, negro messenger for Stevens & Hawks, who had followed them after the hold-up in the West Peachtree store.

May was arrested shortly after in a downtown hotel on information given by his partner.

The sequel to the daring hold-up of the Parker-Brennan drug store, at Peachtree and North avenue, was staged in true wild west style by the two young men who entered the Stevens & Hawks drug store, at West Peachtree and Fourteenth streets and obtained $25 from the safe.

At the point of pistols they compelled the manager of this drug store to open the safe.

While the safe robbery was in progress, the two youths were in the building.

With Smiling Nonchalance Youthful Bandits Readily Confess Daring Robberies

By Marion Kendrick.

With a broad grin on his handsome face, Eric May, late of party unknown in England, but more recently of the United States, accompanied by two policemen, nonchalantly walked into police headquarters a few minutes after 12 o'clock Friday morning.

The fact that he had just been arrested in one of Atlanta's leading hotels with two guns and part of the stolen money which he and his partner, Stuart Taylor, have gone to the trouble to take in bold holdups from two Atlanta drug stores in as many nights, did not seem to worry him, and he laughed and talked with the officers as he awaited his turn to be interviewed by Lieutenant Bob Waggoner, of the detective department.

"No, sir; I don't fool with men when they have guns in their hands," he remarked a few minutes later, as he stood before Lieutenant Waggoner, and confessed, as did Stuart Taylor a short time before, that he was one of the principals in two of the boldest holdups Atlanta has experienced in the last several years.

"We had a little knock all our own, and I was waiting for it to be finished when the two officers entered my room at the hotel. They

STATE RATES HARD HIT BY I. C. C. RULE

All Intrastate Charges Must Correspond to Higher Levels of Interstate Tariffs—Many States Affected by Decision.

Washington, November 18.—In its first decision on the right of the federal government under the transportation act to require railroad rates within a state to correspond to the higher levels of interstate tariffs, the interstate commerce commission today ordered the railroads of New York to establish passenger and baggage rates on intrastate traffic conforming to advanced interstate schedules. Similar proceedings are pending affecting more than half the states in the union.

By its order of last August the commission authorized in the New York region an increase of forty per cent in freight rates, twenty per cent in passenger fares, twenty per cent in baggage charges and rates on milk and cream, and an increase of fifty per cent on pullman accommodations. The New York public service commission granted the freight advance except milk, but denied the other increases within the state and the carriers appealed to the interstate commerce commission.

The federal body held that there was a general obligation resting upon it to exercise control over intrastate commerce so far as it affects interstate commerce.

The "decisive factor," the ruling believes that bolshevism is a menace to the stability of the world and that the Russian people themselves are being held in subjection against their will by the bolsheviks.

The proposed action of the British cabinet will constitute a form of recognition, officials said, calculated to facilitate trade to a greater extent than would be possible without such de facto relations. Last July the American government withdrew prohibition against trading with Russia, but at the same time notified the world that the United States could not assist any commerce with Russia and has consistently discouraged all attempts of American firms to establish such commerce.

British Fears Propaganda.
During the negotiations between Lloyd-George and soviet officials, which ended abruptly last spring, one instance of Great Britain was that the soviet government refrain from spreading propaganda in British possessions in Asia. The French objected to the British negotiations at that time unless the soviet would assume the debts of imperial Russia, of which the French share, including private investments and government loans, totaled approximately 20,000,000 francs.

State department officials said today that advice from various sources showed conclusively that the soviet was not in control of Russia even now; that the bolsheviks were able to hold only a few places at a time and concentrated their strength in Petrograd and Moscow and that even in those centers the people are suffering for food.

From time to time commissars are sent out to force the peasants to contribute necessary supplies. In many instances the peasants have risen against these commissars and killed them. The soviet has practically no control in Siberia, the department's advisers stated.

This attitude of the great mass of the Russian people, it was explained, means the eventual defeat of the bolshevik autocratic rule in Russia and the opinion was expressed that movements such as those led by Kolchak, Denikin and Wrangel have retarded the overthrow of bolshevism by keeping the peasants from asserting themselves.

WRANGLER SOLDIERS IN THE BOSPHORUS.
Constantinople, November 18.—About 20,000 men who fought in the anti-bolshevik army of General Baron Wrangel, in Crimea, were taken out of Sebastopol after the victory of the bolsheviks. Transports which brought refugees from the Crimean city are still anchored in the Bosphorus, and no definite decision has been reached relative to their disposition. The Jugoslav government has undertaken to provide a refuge for several hundred of them.

Only sick and wounded refugees, numbering about 5,000, have been allowed to land. It is not yet known whether the Russian army will be recognized.

CAPTAIN FITZPATRICK TAKEN TO MOSCOW.

Paris, November 18.—All Americans from the Red Cross relief stations at Sebastopol, Feodosia and Talta have been sent across the Black sea to Constantinople, according to telegrams received at the Paris headquarters of the American Red Cross today.

Major George H. Ryden, of Kansas City, Mo., directing the Crimean operations of the organization, telegraphs that Captain Emmett Kilpatrick, of Uniontown, Ala., whose capture by the bolsheviks was reported last week, is said to have been taken to Moscow.

ENGINEERS TO ASSIST PLANNING COMMISSION

The new Atlanta planning commission is to be aided by ideas and activities of members of the Atlanta chapter, American Association of Engineers, who will be requested by Mayor Key to assist the body in its work.

The planning commission hopes to complete arrangements with an engineer of national reputation to advise the commission. The mayor also has advised the Atlanta chapter that an engineer would be selected to serve as an executive secretary, and that it was considered advisable to have other engineers carry out ideas of the consulting engineer. Two members of the commission, Joel Hurt and C. A. Wickensham, are engineers.

The next meeting of the chapter will be held in Carnegie library assembly room, December 2, at 3 p. m., when officers for next year will be elected, and the question of a license law for Georgia will be taken up. A representative of the Southern Bell Telephone company will talk on automatic telephoning.

FOR DRAUGHON TRAINED STUDENTS THERE IS ALWAYS A BIG DEMAND

DRAUGHON'S BUSINESS COLLEGE
Atlanta, Ga.

It is a well known fact that the untrained person in a business office is the first to be laid off when business is dull, or falls below normal, while on the other hand the highly trained steno-bookkeeper remains on the job regardless of business conditions. That is why you seldom, if ever, see a Draughon Graduate out of employment. In fact you will find them wherever business requires the most efficient office help. That is why there is a big demand right now for Draughon Graduates.

There is never any argument about the qualifications of a person recommended by Draughon's College, because it's student body is made up of young people of the highest type, largely graduates from the High Schools and University Colleges, and every member of its faculty is college bred. Not a "jack-of-all-trades" in the bunch. Typewriting and Penmanship taught by music is proving to be a wonderful success and of course is correspondingly popular. The public is invited to visit the college in Peachtree Arcade and see a well equipped and well organized business school in action, and learn exactly why his school is always filled to capacity, and just why it usually has a waiting list. You will then readily see why its graduates are in such big demand in the business world.

Night school has been merged into Home-Study work, which is conducted for those who for some reason, cannot attend day school. Over 10,000 young people in different sections of the United States are taking the Draughon Training at home.

Write for a new illustrated catalogue and state whether interested in a course at college or by mail. Address: Draughon's Business College, Peachtree Arcade, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

WOMAN SAYS SHE WAS STABBED ON AUTO RIDE

Mrs. Walter Warren, of Atlanta, reported to the county police Thursday that she was stabbed Wednesday night while on an automobile ride in Campbell county by a man whose name she gave. She exhibited a cloak, of which one sleeve was cut, and a bandaged arm. She said the stabbing occurred while in an automobile in which she was riding from College Park to Fairburn. She was informed that legal action could be taken only in Campbell county, where the stabbing was done. She was promised aid in apprehending the assailant if she would wear out a warrant for him. She was accompanied by her husband when she made her report to the county police.

She was, she stated, accompanied by her husband and the man on the automobile ride. The man who had been drinking, according to statements by the young woman, objected to Mrs. Warren keeping her young child wrapped to protect it from the cold, and started an argument that culminated in the stabbing. Mr. Warren said that the man drew the knife when Mrs. Warren tried to protect the child.

STAY OUT OF CITIES, GIRLS ARE ADVISED

Many interesting facts about the working girl in Atlanta were brought out by Miss Finley, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., at a meeting of the Central Council of Social Agencies, held at the chamber of commerce Tuesday. An industrial survey made by the Y. W. C. A., in June showed that there are 20,000 working girls in the city.

The shortage of workers during the past three years has brought girls from the rural communities to Atlanta in great numbers and many of them were without adequate training, declared Miss Finley.

The unemployment situation now existing in Atlanta and throughout the whole country has thrown many of these girls out of work and has caused a very serious problem. The central council, on the basis of Miss Finley's statements, went on record as against the general migration of women to the large centers.

with the inhabitants afraid to venture out of doors at night.

The mayor said the constabulary had been succeeded recently by soldiers, which garrisoned all towns, and what are known as the "black and tans," a khaki-clad military force with black belts and tan uniforms. Another auxiliary corps, he said, is composed of former British officers.

Sometimes in uniforms and sometimes in plain clothes, the witnesses continued, the auxiliary corps traveled about in motor lorries "raiding houses and streets."

All this is in the effort of the British government to stamp out any effort for the Irish republic, asked Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts.

"Yes, that's the case," said the witness, who added that the British military activities undoubtedly would cease if the movement for Irish independence were abandoned.

Mr. Morgan vigorously denied that the Irish republic officers had aided or abetted murder of British troops, or ordered any reprisals against them.

When he left Dublin for America, the witness said, the black and tans surrounded the block in which he was staying, but he eluded them and reached his boat just in time.

Barred From Dying Son.

Describing his own confinement in prison, Mr. Morgan said he was permitted to go home on parole when his little son died, and that he went on hunger strike for eleven days and later was transferred to a hospital, where he was held several weeks before being released. He said he was not liberated until last June, and was in an indignant mood when he returned against him or any trial, he declared.

Morgan described graphically a raid in which his house was the target of bullets said to have been fired by the royal Irish constabulary and his own seizure by the constabulary as he was leaving for the council meeting which elected him chairman in his absence.

"There were twelve members of the council," said Morgan. "On the night of their opening meeting two of us—Kilbane and myself, rival candidates for chairman—were in the same cell in jail, eight were sitting in council and two more of us were 'on their tin.'"

He asserted, without a warrant, and when asked what the charge was, said he was told: "No charge; government orders."

Since his return to Thurles, he said, he had not dared sleep in his own house a single night, for fear he would be raided either by the soldiers or the constabulary. He was elected a councilman on a labor ticket, but declared himself to be a republican, or Sinn Fein, in sympathies.

British Soldiers Use Torch.

Father Cotter, a Catholic editor, told of the killing of a Galway civilian by a British soldier, without cause, he said. The soldier, he said, was seized by another civilian and a reprisal against the town followed an hour later. Soldiers shot up the streets for several hours, he said.

The aged priest added that he lay for an hour and a half under a wing of the flying bullets. The military, he added, later set fire to two houses and fired into a Galway newspaper plant whose management was friendly to the republican movement.

Father Cotter and Mr. Martin, a Knights of Columbus official, stated that sentiment in Ireland as they found it was very unanimous for independence.

"Sympathies of everyone I met, Catholic and Protestant, were for the republicans," said Father Cotter. "The belief that religious prejudices or differences were involved in Ireland was unfounded," he added.

"There was absolute unanimity of opinion for home rule," Mr. Martin told the commission.

All witnesses said that civil court procedure was suspended in Ireland, coroners' inquests prohibited by the British government and that the only authority exercised, except for the British military forces, was that of the Irish republicans.

About six hundred soldiers and four hundred police are stationed constantly in Limerick, the Rev. English told the commission. Millington told the commission, a Limerick district were so frequent he said that it had been named the "Penitentiary."

He told of a fire, started either by hand grenades or incendiaries, which damaged 200 houses in the Penitentiary district. He said he saw many marks of bullets and bombs.

Mr. Martin said he was halted and searched frequently by soldiers during a journey from Limerick to Cork. He said there were great numbers of military motor lorries in Cork patrolling the streets continually.

Shattered by Bullets.

In the space of five blocks, Mr. Martin said, he noted about 80 per cent of the windows of houses and stores had been shattered by the activities of the soldiers.

"No compensation has been made by the British government for the destruction of property whose destruction has been proved against its own forces," he declared.

Father Cotter said he spent eight weeks in Ireland last summer, visiting Cork, Galway, Queenstown and many smaller towns. In Cork, he said, a sister of Terence MacSwiney, the late lord mayor, showed him a dum-dum bullet which had been fired at her but missed.

"Nights in Cork are hideous with the state of the military," said Father Cotter. He and Father English also told of seeing intoxicated soldiers being taken to the workhouse.

In the examination of Mr. Morgan, Frank P. Walsh and Dudley Field Malone would for the commission, but Frederick C. Howe, chairman, Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, and other members of the investigating commission, questioned all the witnesses. It was made clear by Senator Walsh that all of the witnesses were summoned by the commission, which pays their expenses, without relation to any other organization in this country.

In opening his hearing, Chairman Howe said the commission was into all the facts, both from Irish and English sources, and later send inquiry.

The hearings here are expected to continue for several weeks.

"Only the direst necessity" can justify a resort to arms for the adjustment of disputes in Ireland, said Chairman Howe. He added that the conditions in Ireland "have created and are creating a widening rift in the friendly relations of England and America, not only in America, but all over the world."

Mr. Howe continued: "It needs an ending of hate. Discussion should displace the employment of force."

The story of destruction which is now ravishing Ireland is sending its repercussions to every corner of the world. It cannot fail to postpone indefinitely the return of ordered tranquility to civilization. It is a life of all this, the political life of America, are profoundly disturbed by the injection of the internecine war between peoples of our own flesh and blood.

Mr. Howe said the commission has determined to ascertain the facts and to learn, as nearly as possible, what conditions are in Ireland and the reasons for them.

"The commission plans to send a mission to England to make an inquiry into conditions in the latter country," Mr. Howe explained. "It will also investigate the killings and disorders. Quite as important to the permanent adjustment of the dispute, it will investigate the economic conditions."

IRISH ACCUSED OF SCATTERING TYPHOID GERMS

London, November 18.—Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, stated in the house of commons today that during a recent raid in Ireland, troops captured a document sent by the commander-in-chief of the Irish republic army, to his chief of staff, containing a series of remarkable and horrifying statements regarding the spreading of typhoid among the troops, and glands among the cavalry horses.

Sir Hamar read the documents. Dealing with the possibility of spreading typhoid among troops by infected milk, the document described the difficulties and risks run by the operators and concluded with the statement that the chief of staff would, in any case, need expert opinion in order to carry out the suggestion in the document.

Regarding the spreading of glands in horses, the general methods to be adopted were related and the conclusion formed that the best method was by doctoring their oats. This method was described in detail, it being added that any doctor would explain how to grow the microbes.

MURDEROUS RAIDS ON IRISH HOUSES.

London, November 18.—Three men were shot dead today in the Cork mortuary, while two others, badly wounded, were in a hospital as a result of several attacks last night on individual houses by armed men following the killing of Sergeant O'Donoghue, the constabulary according to a Cork dispatch to the Central News this afternoon. The people, in consternation, were afraid to venture out of doors, the dispatch added.

The first affair occurred near midnight, the dispatch says, when two former soldiers were dragged from their beds, one of the killed and one wounded. Later, a civilian was called to his door, shot and killed. Some time after midnight

WYOMING CATTLE KING TO LOCATE IN GEORGIA

Wyoming's leading sheep and live stock man is coming to Georgia to locate, it was announced by the Advertiser Georgia enterprise, in the state capital Thursday evening.

He is J. A. Delfelder, and in a letter to President A. K. Sessoms, of the Georgia association, at Coggall, Ga., he emphasizes Georgia as a live stock state.

The Georgia association, in cooperation with the advertising clubs, is raising the $300,000 state advertising fund and the live stock possibilities of the state are to be stressed in the publicity work.

The Wyoming cattle king's coming to Georgia will involve the purchase and development of at least 25,000 acres, said P. H. Abbott, general secretary of the Advertiser Georgia enterprise.

"Mr. Delfelder's coming to Georgia is the result of a little advertising work of two years ago," commented Mr. Abbott. "We have no hard winters, and we can offer an average nine months' pasture season, 20,000,000 acres of land, an almost absolutely tick-free state and one equipped with more than seventy experimental pasture stations. For cattle men to come to Georgia is no experiment; we have prize cattle here that are Georgia products."

LIBEL SUIT IS FILED AGAINST MACON PAPER

Macon, Ga., November 18.—(Special.)—Suit for $10,000 for alleged libel has been filed in the city court of Macon against The Macon News Publishing company, William St. Clair, an employee of the Schofield Press works, being the plaintiff in the case.

St. Clair was shot and seriously wounded several weeks ago during a difficulty with a Macon policeman in East Macon, and stories published about the affair at the time are the basis for the present suit.

Edwards claimed that he had bought the blankets from the Pullman porter for $1 each.

FARMERS URGED TO GO ON STRIKE

Call Issued by Union in Effort to Stop Falling Prices of Agricultural Products.

Kansas City, November 18.—A nation-wide producer's strike to combat the falling prices of farm products was urged in a call sent out today by the National Farmers' union to its local unions throughout the country.

The call, in the form of a resolution adopted at the national convention of the organization here, went forward to secretaries of local branches of the organization, which represent producers of grain, cotton, wool and livestock, said to number 800,000.

The proposed stock was urged in retaliation for what the convention considered abnormal deflation in prices of farm products, through which, it was asserted, "American farmers have been robbed of one million dollars in reduced value of products now on hand." All farmers were urged to hold this year's production from the markets until "profit-making levels" were restored.

In Line With Wheat Strike.

The action of the National Farmers' union was in line with a "wheat strike" called several weeks ago by the Wheat Growers' association of the United States. Delegates asserted a considerable quantity of this year's wheat crop was being held off the market by farmers.

Reduction of production in the future was threatened "unless the prices of our products are fairly readjusted to the end that we may obtain just returns for our labors and investments." In another resolution approved by the convention, the organization charged that the "exploitation of the farmer by the speculator" was a national disgrace.

Officials of the organization pointed out that members were not under obligation to obey the terms of the strike but expressed the belief that such a movement would be effective.

An appeal of representatives of all farmers' organizations of the country was called to meet in St. Louis December 18 to consider the creation of a national farm marketing board.

THREE NEGROES SHOT Following the Killing Of Young White Man

Douglas, Ga., November 18.—Douglas was quiet tonight following the lynching of three negroes early today and no further trouble is anticipated by the authorities. The negroes lynched were "Willie Boney" Ivory; his wife, Minnie, and Will Perry.

It was Deputy Sheriff W. F. Wiggins, who was held up by the mob while taking the three negro prisoners to Ocala, instead of Fitzgerald, as first reported, and forced to turn over the prisoners. Then the negroes were lined up and shot, according to reports brought back to this city.

Sheriff Tanner and a relative of Pearly Harper, who was killed by a negro yesterday, addressed the mob in front of the Coffee county jail just as the city's electric lights were turned off at 1 o'clock this morning. It was while they were holding the attention of the mob that Deputy Sheriff Wiggins sprang the three negroes out the rear door and started on his trip to Ocala.

Seven miles away the deputy found the road blocked, an automobile having been stopped across the highway. As he slowed down, his car was surrounded and he is said to have been forced to deliver the negroes. Tom Hutto, who was with Pearly Harper when the latter was killed, was the principal witness before the coroner's jury today. He said that Ivory shot and killed Harper and that the negro's wife, Minnie, struck him (Hutto) over the head with a bottle when they entered a negro store here.

Deputy Sheriff Wiggins did not return to Douglas after the lynching and the first information was brought in by Irwin county residents who drove here early today and who had found the bodies at the roadside. The crowd was still waiting in front of the county jail at that time, believing that the negroes were still in the prison.

SALTS IF BACKACHE AND KIDNEYS HURT

Drink lots of water and stop eating meat for a while if your Bladder troubles you.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat. Meat is a kidney authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys and gets sluggish and clogs you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's uric acid waste; else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delicious, effervescent lithia-water drink.—(adv.)

LOWENSTEIN WILL ASSIST ORPHANS

Thousands of Dollars Bequeathed to Charity Including $10,000 for the Hebrew Orphans' Home.

The will of William J. Lowenstein, president of Norris, Inc., who died September 17, was made public yesterday. Insurance policies to the amount of $105,000 were included in the estate, the aggregate of which has not yet been definitely determined, but it is understood to be of considerable size.

A bequest of $10,000 was made to the Hebrew Orphans' home, an institution in which Mr. Lowenstein was greatly interested, having served on its executive committee for a number of years. Considerable sums were left to associates and employees in Norris, Inc., including stock in the company to J. B. Stauder, R. E. Riley, C. C. Williams and R. C. Head, $1,000 each to O. K. Ellis and F. W. Reid; $500 each to Mrs. Maude Reeves and Mrs. Mary Faust, and $250 each to Charles Powers and D. M. Smith. The major portion of Mr. Lowenstein's Norris stock was left to his brother, I. J. Lowenstein.

In addition to being president of Norris, Inc., Mr. Lowenstein was largely interested in the Lowenstein Investment company and the Monarch Manufacturing company. Frank E. Lowenstein has been elected president of Norris, Inc., to succeed his brother, it was announced at the offices of the company. Other officers elected were A. L. Norris, vice president and general superintendent, and M. M. Lowenstein, vice president and secretary.

Frank E. Lowenstein, the new president, has been vice president and advertising manager since the organization of Norris, Inc., ten years ago, and has been one of the principal factors in the success of that business, which has grown in that time from a small beginning to one of the largest businesses in the country, devoted entirely to the manufacture and sale of exclusively high grade candies in sealed packages.

Mr. Lowenstein is an able executive and is considered one of the best informed and most progressive advertising and sales expert in Atlanta.

Arthur L. Norris will continue in charge of the factory management of the Norris company, a department he has directed from the first. Mr. Norris for years has devoted himself exclusively to the manufacture of the highest standard of goods and is recognized as one of the foremost experts in that field.

Max M. Lowenstein, vice president, secretary and treasurer, also has been connected with Norris, Inc., since its organization. He will have direction of finance and purchases of raw materials. His experience in this field covers many years of successful endeavor and has in a large way contributed to much of the development of the industry.

MYSTERY DEEPENS IN SHEPARD CASE

Investigation again shifted to Atlanta, Dr. Funke is busily engaged in conducting a pathological and physiological examination in his laboratories in the Hurt building, after spending six hours working with Dr. Everhardt, who is continuing his chemical analysis at the state capitol. Solicitor General Charles H. Garrett is continuing his investigations at Macon and Port Valley, attempting to bring the situation to such a stage that the coroner's jury may reconvene next week for a hearing of evidence.

Decision by Monday.

Dr. Funke, when interviewed last night, stated he did not know when his tests will be concluded. He was asked if he would be ready to submit his findings Tuesday, and he replied he was doubtful, but certain conditions may make it possible for him to render a written decision to Solicitor General Garrett Monday afternoon. Dr. Everhardt is expected to complete his analysis Saturday or Monday morning, he stated.

For eleven weeks a rigid investigation of the death of Shepard has been under way, covering more than twenty states, and bringing many startling disclosures. The Constitution was told Thursday by an individual closely connected with the case. Whether the probe is nearing an end or whether it will last for several more weeks, it could not be learned, but it was intimated that much of the sensational evidence will be revealed at the hearing.

Friday or Saturday of next week. It was originally planned by the state to have another session of the coroner's jury today, but with the two Atlanta scientists working on such an important phase of the case, it was postponed until next Friday. When the jury meets the reports of Dr. Everhardt and Dr. Funke will be made, while the history of the lives of those alleged to have been closely connected with the suspected unnatural death of Shepard will be presented, according to reports.

Fred Shepard died on June 1, at a sanitarium in Macon, where he had been rushed from the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Henry, of Perry. Developments just before he was taken ill and the making of a will, on May 20, it is said, are expected to play a prominent part in the state's case.

Will Secretly Mailed.

This will is said to have been anonymously mailed from Marshallville to a relative of the deceased in Fort Valley. Enclosed in the same envelope was a note purporting to be from the deceased, in which the sender, Attorney J. W. Bloodworth is said to have drawn the will, which is alleged to have been witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Henry, the latter being a sister of the present Mrs. F. E. Elmer.

Shepard's widow, who married Dr. Elmer six weeks after his death, it is said, was bequeathed $10,000 and a life annuity of $100 a month by this will. Ernest Hobson, stepson of Shepard, was left a substantial sum, while the remainder of his large estate is reported to have been left to his sister, Mrs. Alice Crandall, his niece, Mrs. Alfred Hume, and nephews, Frederick R. Crandall and David Crandall.

Hearing Next Week.

Macon, Ga., November 18. (Special.)—The next sitting of the coroner's jury investigating the death of Fred D. Shepard will not take place until Friday or Saturday of next week, it was announced by Solicitor Charles H. Garrett tonight.

A number of special stunts are being prepared for the ad men. Dave W. THE GEORGIA & FLORIDA.

The Georgia and Florida railroad, extending from Augusta, Ga., to Madison, Fla., is in imminent danger of being scrapped and sold under the hammer as junk for the lack of funds necessary to carry it over the current temporary period of financial depression.

This road was put in the hands of receivers as the result of losses sustained incident to the world war; and it has outstanding against it now, maturing next February, $700,000 of receivers' certificates, which, without assistance, it will be unable to pay.

Unquestionably, it will be foreclosed and sold to protect the holders of its securities, unless help comes from some source.

Some time ago Judge Hammond, of the Augusta circuit, granted temporary relief, enabling the road to struggle on for a few months longer; but he stated at the time that the property would be foreclosed if within reasonable time something was not done to put it on a stable basis.

Efforts to that end have so far failed.

The only resort left now is to the interstate commerce commission, which, under the transportation act of 1920, is authorized to lead way to railroads in order to enable them "properly to serve the public."

Immediately following termination of federal control, on August 31, 1920.

To obtain such a loan the law makes it necessary, first, to show that the government will be adequately secured; and, second, to show that it "is necessary to enable the applicant properly to meet the transportation needs of the public."

The Georgia and Florida has applied to the government for a loan of approximately $1,000,000, to be applied to existing maturing indebtedness and to make certain improvements and to continue operation until it can recover its former footing as a revenue-producing concern.

Unless this relief is granted Georgia will undoubtedly witness the humiliating spectacle, for the second time within a year, of a railroad being scrapped for the lack of money with which to meet its debts.

The first was in the case of the Georgia Coast and Piedmont, which extended from Collins to Brunswick, Ga., this road having been put under the hammer and sold, notwithstanding high sounding assurances, given at that time, that the public had a "vested interest" in every road in operation, and that existing roads could not be dismantled under foreclosure.

Lest the Georgia and Florida railway suffer the same fate that has been suffered by the railroads in similar condition, The Constitution sounds the alarm, in the hope that all possible pressure may be brought to bear upon the interstate commerce commission to induce it to make the loan that is absolutely necessary for the salvation of this property.

The commission has the authority to do that.

And if that authority is not intended to cover exactly such an emergency case as this, why did congress grant it?

Certainly not to help roads that are strong and able to help themselves!

It unquestionably was intended to help the weak roads—the roads that were floundering in deep water, and to save which the strong hand of the government was absolutely essential!

The Georgia and Florida, extending clear across Georgia and into Florida, is 250 miles long, with a number of short lateral feeder lines; traverses a section of Georgia in which the possibilities of development are excelled by those to be found in no other part of the state or in the south.

Along its right-of-way thriving little cities and towns have been built, and thousands of people have established happy homes and prosperous business enterprises—many of them having placed their all along this line—in confidence that the road would naturally continue in indefinite operation. During the ten years' operation of the Georgia and Florida the development of the territory through which it passes has been remarkable.

This road has service connections with several of the great railroad systems connecting with other parts of the country. But even if that were not true, the local service it renders the people who reside along its 250 miles of main line, to say nothing of its laterals, would make the wrecking of the property a public calamity, and one from which the state would be a long time in recovering.

His Friend and His Wife

By Cosmo Hamilton

"Daisy Osborn," said Mrs. Hicks, "I had Miss Rambeau or Madame Kalich in mind. I know something. Quite by accident I have picked up information about you which as a good and virtuous woman, it is my duty to give you. I was talking to my husband about your case just before dinner, and I could read between the lines of what he said that he had worked the alibi by which Margaret Meredith got off and brought the other woman into the case by a very clever piece of legal jugglery. All that business about this mysterious person taking the name of Meredith in moving pictures is false, my dear, pure false. I know it's a very dangerous thing to say so, my husband being the lawyer in the case and all, but I'm thinking about you and your future, and to tell you the truth, I can't bear to see that concealed woman, Margaret Meredith, who has always given herself such a fine name, coming out of this 'clothing' as I hear that Julian said. What's the world coming to, I should like to know, if a woman can take away one's husband, smother him, and then come out scot free by a neat arrangement of lies."

A shadow moved. With his face white with rage, Julian stalked into the room. "I don't know whether you know or not," he said, "but I have just been told that you are carrying power, Mrs. Hicks. I congratulate you upon your gift of dissection, what you call it, and I must have been directly inherited by you from 'Annie'."

Mrs. Hicks wheeled around. The rouge on her cheeks stood out grotesquely against a very pale skin. "How dare you say such a thing!" she spluttered.

But Julian interrupted what was only the beginning of a Niagara of words by leaning forward and tapping the uncomfortable woman on the arm. "What you have just told me, Daisy, and I heard it as I came across the lawn, would be quite enough to disbar your husband from there were one word of truth in it. At the moment this is not my house, but if it were I don't think I should be able to restrain myself."

From taking you up and dropping you, sturdily, you went in the middle of the rock garden."

He went over to the window, his gesture which for the complete descriptiveness would have done justice to the French Academy of Acting and waiting, glaring, for Mrs. Hicks to take herself off.

And this, with a little snort as triumph, she did.

The rap of her high heels across the veranda was followed by one of those queer silences which, when they occur in domestic life, mean that the crossroads have been arrived at, and if perfect honesty and much forbearance and mutual sympathy is not exercised, a crash is bound to follow. Not once, not for one single instant, had Daisy taken her eyes from Julian's face from the moment that he had broken into Mrs. Hicks' torrent of mischief, and the determination to get rid of Mrs. Hicks before she could go into further details.

It began to die at the sight of her husband's face, and because, when left alone with her and he caught her steady gaze, his eyes fell and his hand went out to fidget weakly with the nearest thing on the table. She was ready to forget the fact that the man she loved had not been true. She was very young, and her mind was stored with Mrs. Hicks' torrent of mischief, and the quality of mercy was strong in her heart. It was not the poison of Mrs. Hicks' deliriously dropped that stirred her suspicion.

It was something all about Julian that stirred her suspicion. It was the shadow of dishonesty hanging over him. The exultation which had been in her when she had struck suddenly into a great and bitter resentment, because her instinct told her that he was not another, told her that Julian, even Julian, was taking advantage of her youth and credulity to deceive her and use her to protect Margaret Meredith. This was altogether more than she could stand.

ernment is demanding resumption of operation of the mines, which have been idle since October 11, ordered the operators to pay the workers a wage increase of 20 per cent. The mines were closed when their demand for 100 per cent was refused by the operators. Mexicans here assert that the federation of labor is standing behind the strikers, who number about 10,000.

Luis Gutierrez, governor of Coahuila, was reported at Salinas today with 750 soldiers preparing to enforce the ultimatum.

CONCERN FELT BY WASHINGTON.
Washington, November 18.—So ure of coal mines in Coahuila, Mexico, by striking miners has served to increase the concern felt by American government officials over the steady spread of radicalism in Mexico, but it was said today at the state department that no formal protest would be made unless representations were received from the owners of the property.

Several months ago President de la Huerta declared his government intended to adopt measures to curtail the activities of radicals in Mexico, but it was said that reports received by the American government indicated that no repressive measures had been taken.

Cincinnati Warmly Welcomes Georgians on Industrial Tour

By PAUL WARWICK.

Cincinnati, November 18.—(Special.)—This Ohio city, first of the stops on the tour of the Georgians aboard the Tech Industrial special, has busied itself today in welcoming the clan. Even the heavy blanket of snow which greeted the southerners when they stepped from the special this morning has melted away and the temperature has moderated to their liking. Friday the tourists spent Pittsburgh.

Officers of the local chamber of commerce, city government heads and other leaders in the city's life, were in Union station to shake Governor Hugh M. Dorsey's hand and welcome him to the town when he stepped off the special, as the commanding officer and spokesman of the lively crowd.

The day started with a snap when Jack S. Stanger, general manager of the Central Union Life insurance company and proprietor of the most altitudinous skyscraper west of New York, welcomed the Georgians in a reminiscent fashion that convinced them when he told of years he had spent in Georgia's capital.

Georgia city was found to be an important and chief ingredient in the material used by the Roys and potteries, whose artistic and unique plant was thrown open to the industrial tourists, and the visit to the immense plant of Proctor and Gamble found resin, cotton seed oils and other products of their manufacture had their origin in the Empire State.

Three hours of auto riding showed the fortunate visitors virtually all of the city's residential districts, and the insight into the importance of Cincinnati as an industrial center. Cordial welcomes were extended to the party by representative Georgians everywhere they are seen, and the first twenty-four hours of the jaunt indicates an immense future value to the state and to Georgia Tech; to argue not at all of the intense enjoyment being manifested by the Georgians who represent every nook of the state.

The Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, the lead in entertaining, although the whole force of Proctor and Gamble got their opportunity to demonstrate their ways of making soap and other things, as well as serving an excellent lunch, were made the plant and employees were hosts.

The program Thursday included the welcome to the whole force of Proctor and Gamble, the chamber of commerce, the city government, and the closing event of the day—a banquet given the entire personnel of the train in the chamber of commerce dining room.

Official Welcome Given.

Here the official welcome of the city was given by D. C. Keller, a prominent citizen of Cincinnati, and director of the chamber of commerce, demonstrating the ways of Mayor Galvin, who was called out of town Wednesday night, but who sent a message of welcome to the Georgians at their tour of the city.

W. H. Brown, vice president of the local chamber, also told of Cincinnati's gladness at having them as guests, and addresses of response were made by Governor Dorsey.

GANG OF THIEVES INVADE CITY FOR HOLIDAY PICKINGS

An increased number of suspicious characters in the city, with the approach of the holidays, has received the official notice of the police in an order from Chief of Police Beavers instructing that special watch be kept for persons whose actions are open to question.

It was stated by police officials that a large number of criminals of all caliber came to the city during the Southern fair. Large numbers of these, doubtless, have remained, it is thought, while others have come with the approach of the mid-winter holiday season.

The following order was issued Thursday by Chief Beavers to the force:

"The captains will instruct the officers to keep a close watch out for all suspicious parties on their beats, as there seems to be a bunch of crooks floating into the city for the holidays."

Also, give all attention possible to the business houses that are located in the residence districts, at nights, for burglars and hold-up men, and show them no quarter when overtaken holding up people or committing burglaries."

Old-Time Fiddlers On Edge to Decide State Championship

Atlanta's annual "rural grand opera," the convention of the old time country fiddlers, will open tonight at the Auditorium. The early arrivals among the mountaineers musicians declare that an array of contestants for the Georgia championship will be on hand such as was never seen before. More than fifty had formally announced their entries yesterday.

Fiddlin' John Carson, one of the most famous of the "regulars," Gid Tanner, who could make a fortune in vaudeville if he could be persuaded to travel, "Shorty" Harper, from Morgan county, and a dozen other favorites of past seasons are expected. The Lickskillet orchestra, from Cobb county, with the biggest "bull fiddler" ever built, has been engaged for each session of the convention and will play for the country dance which will follow the contest for the state fiddling championship.

The public session will be held tonight and tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, and tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

a young man who practiced medicine in a rural district became famous and was called in consultation in many towns and cities because of his success in the treatment of disease. He finally made up his mind to place some of his treatments before the entire United States and, moving to Buffalo, he put up what he called his Favorite Prescription, and placed it with the druggists in every state in the Union.

That was fifty years ago. For fifty years this Favorite Prescription of Dr. Pierce's has sold more largely throughout the United States than any other medicine of like character. It's the testimony of thousands of women that it has benefited or entirely eradicated such distressing ailments as women are prone to.

For over fifty years some of Dr. Pierce's home medicines have been selling over the drug counters, so that more than forty-eight million bottles have been sold during that time. This speaks well for the reliability and value of Dr. Pierce's standard home remedies. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood tonic and strength-builder which contains no alcohol, yet has tonic qualities that have endeared it to the American public. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, composed of May-apple, aloes and jalap, have long been considered a reliable vegetable laxative, in the same way that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has long been recognized as a tonic for diseases peculiar to womanhood. More recently that wonderful discovery of Dr. Pierce's—namely, Anuric (anti-uric-acid), has been successfully used by many thousands of people who write Dr. Pierce in unqualified terms of the benefits received—that their backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble have been completely conquered by the use of Anuric.

It works like a charm

HERE was a woman preparing to bake pop-overs as though it were the easiest thing in the world.

There was no fussing with salt or soda—no careful measuring of baking powder. To the flour she simply added shortening and milk or water and in a very few minutes she was ready to bake.

And when her pop-overs came out of the oven they were the lightest, fluffiest morsels imaginable.

It was a convincing demonstration of how quick, sure and simple it is to bake with Ballard Self-Rising Flour which is the best self-rising flour you can buy. You are sure of good results when you use Ballard Self-Rising Flour. It is simply Ballard's famous Obelisk Flour with salt, soda and baking powder added in correct proportions.

Just use your plain flour recipe, leaving out baking powder, salt or soda and using a little less shortening. The biscuits and rolls you bake will be the best you ever ate. And it will cost you less to bake them.

Order a sack today. Ask your grocer for the best self-rising flour he has.

Gen. and Mrs. Morrison Honored By Col. and Mrs. Nelson at Dance

Morrison, the guests invited being a number of Atlanta people in the officers and families of the Sixth infantry regiment, the number totaling about one hundred guests.

The occasion was probably Camp Gordon's last prominent social affair, since the news comes that the Sixth infantry will probably be moving to join its parent organization, the Fifth division at Camp Jackson, S. C., ere another fortnight.

Decorated with the colors of the Sixth infantry that have survived the Indian campaign and the Spanish-American war, with trophies of the late world war and loving cups that tell of years of distinguished service to the country, the hostess house has never presented a more attractive appearance than when the guests were ushered down the receiving line, in which were Major General and Mrs. Morrison, Colonel and Mrs. Nelson, Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. A. R. Dillingham and Miss Hazel Nelson.

Punch was served during the evening from a bowl festooned with autumn foliage. At 11 o'clock a delicious buffet supper was served. Dancing began at 9 o'clock, lasting until midnight. TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises go to your drugist and get 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength), and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. ELKS PLAN BIG DRIVE FOR POOR KIDDIES

Two Big Charity Balls Will Be Given to Afford Fund for Tree.

After the initiation of about 75 candidates into the mysteries of Elkdom, Atlanta lodge No. 78, B. P. O. E., at its regular meeting Thursday evening, laid out some of the more important details of the big Christmas tree it expects to give this year at the Auditorium to nearly 1,000 of the poor children of this city.

For some time the charity committee of the lodge has been working on plans to raise a goodly sum among its members for the purpose of bringing happiness to hundreds of Atlanta's little tots at Christmas time. Last year the Elks gave a large tree at the Auditorium to which nearly 1,000 children—the lit-tles—came to see the tree and the ones that might otherwise be overlooked by good old Santa were invited and were sent away happy with numerous toys and goodies. This year a splendid sum is being raised and will again be used for the Christmas tree.

To swell this charity fund a large ball is to be given at the Elks' home Thanksgiving eve. The admission is 10 cents for the ladies and tickets have already been disposed of, and as there are to be several novelties and entertainment features in connection with the ball, large attendance is expected. Early in December the Elks will stage a big charity ball, to which is expected a 100 per cent attendance of its members. This will be the climax of entertainment for the purpose of raising funds for the Christmas tree.

Atlanta lodge of Elks is growing splendidly, having a membership now of nearly 1,000, and it expects to make this Christmas one of the happiest it has ever celebrated in for the leisure of Atlanta's poor children.

Next Sunday the lodge will attend the Church of the Epiphany in a body to listen to a special service by the pastor, Rev. J. H. Smith, who is one of the active members and office holders of Atlanta lodge. The service will be closed during the hours of service, Elks will gather at the home at 10:30 a. m. and go in a body to the church, except those who live near the church, located at the corner of Moreland and Euclid avenue, who will go direct to the church.

FOR PLAIN LIVING AND SQUARE DEAL

The address was delivered at a luncheon of the New Orleans association of commerce, the central feature of a program of entertainment by which the city sought to show the president-elect that the partnership of the campaign already had been forgotten. Guest speaker was Mr. Harding, who everywhere during his short stay in front of the City Hall he expressed his gratitude for the hospitality extended him through the south.

Following the luncheon Mr. Harding was the guest at an informal reception held at the home of Mrs. W. H. B. where he was presented with a gold watch, the gift of the local lodge. His "little talk" promised the committee of Elks developed into a fifteen minute address before a crowd of several thousand gathered in front of the home.

He stressed the value of fraternalism, asserting that without them there would be vasty more trouble and worry in governments and among the people in general.

The President-elect was in New Orleans shortly before 11 o'clock in the morning. From New Orleans, Texas, where he spent the first week of his vacation, and went aboard his steamer, the United Fruit liner Parimania, shortly after 4 p. m. Soon afterward the Parimania started on the four-day run to Cristobal.

NEW STOP AT MEXICAN PORT.

Any possibility that the vessel would touch at a Mexican port on her way down, in response to an invitation extended to Mr. Harding by the Mexican government, disappeared when the steamship company notified the president-elect that such a stop would delay her departure three days out of her course. She already had delayed on sailing one day to wait for the presidential party and, as she carries a number of regular passengers, Mr. Harding would not approve a further change in plans.

Rescuee George B. Christian, Jr., the President-elect is accompanied by a number of personal friends, including Senators Hale, of Maine, and Frelinghuysen, of New Jersey. The party will remain in the canal zone about week and will land on the return trip at Norfolk, Va., on December 4.

In expressing his appreciation for the music furnished by the Mexican national band, "President Huerta's own," sent here by the Mexican government to greet him, President-elect Harding made the following statement touching upon Mexican affairs:

"I want to thank the band of this, our neighboring republic, for the splendid music they have furnished us here today, and if it shall be that these musicians understand me, I hope that when they return to Mexico they will tell their fellow-countrymen that it is my wish that Mexico should catch the echo of the onward march of America and that I want them to go on as we of America go on ourselves."

The arrangement at the speaker's table at the luncheon today was as follows:

Champ Clark, former speaker of the house; Senator Joseph E. Ransall, of Louisiana; Mayor Behrman, of New Orleans; President-elect Harding; Governor Parker and Mayor of United Fruit company; Governor Joseph M. Parker, of Louisiana; and Mayor-elect McShane, of New Orleans.

New Orleans and Louisiana received the President-elect with open arms. Governor Parker and Mayor Behrman meeting him at Baton Rouge and accompanying him to the city, where he was met by a large crowd gathered at the city hall, expressing his gratitude for his reception through the south, and declaring one of his fondest ambitions was to see a national presidentism was completely forgotten.

In his short city hall speech, Mr. Harding also touched briefly on the tariff, asserting that the south as well as the north would be in-

Interested in a tariff policy to prevent foreign dumping at the expense of American industry.

Senator Harding's speech contained a message of assurance for the industrial development of the south and an expression of hope that the steel of commerce cooperation with Latin-America would be strengthened by every possible means.

What Harding Said.

He said in part:

"I believe the American people have come to realize that we must face momentous problems, and must face them with resolute courage and determination. There must be no reason for pause or excuse in the face of these problems."

"If we are effective in solving our problems at home we shall be better able to help solve those of the world as befits our part in modern civilization."

"After world wars have witnessed such an upheaval as that which came with the great war, its civilization was never so sorely tried. Inevitably there must be reconstruction. Unavoidably there must be readjustment. And the order of things will never return to the incalculable future must be vain. But there must come stability and dependability. We must put aside the debris of war and continue to build on solid foundations. We cannot afford to have the consequences of fevered war or the unsettled conditions of its aftermath. There are great dangers ahead of us, but we are confident America will face them with courage. And we will not allow our backs to be turned to them; we may have to bend our backs to new burdens. Surely, we are going to be called upon to rise, collectively and individually, to renounce extravagance and to live on the basis of thrift and of providence. It will add to our power and emphasize the simplicity of the American people's simple living nation once more. It will add to the sum total of our happiness."

"The thing for all America to realize now and always is the dignity of productive labor. No matter how humble the producer, he is the maker of the essentials of civilization and we must, each and every one of us, recognize the duty of producing for the world or of ministering to the needs of commerce."

Everlasting Fundamentals.

"There are certain fundamentals which are everlasting. Neither our own nor the world's salvation is to be achieved out through any patent nostrum, through any miracle of statesmanship, through any government panacea, through any official circles, in executive and legislative departments will help mutually and bring us closer together and will promote our understanding, but government alone will not affect the whole solution."

New York, November 18.—(Special.)—Trading in the last two hours of the session was heavy and the fact that cotton was freely absorbed around 15.50 for January was a notable event in the face of a market that people predicted would go to lower prices. Some temporary recovery was noted.

Outside of some buying to recover contracts recently sold and moderate mill demand the buying power for the time being seems to be small.

Enthusiastic audiences that packed the Grand at every performance Thursday, showed frequently and emphatically that they appreciated "Buzin" Around as a "regular" musical comedy.

The Grand's big headline is all that. There's a stage full of pretty girls who stop dancing, singing or posing only long enough to swap one fetching costume for another. There are stately show girls and vivacious "ponies" and a handsome, senior and irrepressible comedian and a charming prima donna and a marvelous dancer and a plot and half a dozen vivid settings and all the rest that are generally found in a $2 musical production.

The Grand has never put on so pretentious an offering. And Sunday has an attraction at the Loew house registered as tumultuous as a hit.

The plot idea in "Buzin" Around concerns an impecunious producer, portrayed with hilarious results by Jack Hallen, who is trying to put on a revue. All the many characters are wonderful in their own right, which gives an excuse for all to join in the nonsense, vocalizations and travesty. The costumes of the chorus range from lingerie to evening gowns—and the chorus seems to have been chosen mainly for pulchritude. Margaret Osborn, who is a sort of vest-pocket cyclone, does some phenomena, and a while Gladys Gerish as a bewitching a southerner as ever dazzled the "bald head row."

Billy Kinkaid, a Highland Hercules, gave the show a flying start with his big, hairy, hairy strength and skill. Billy and Moran, who play a "yaller gal" and an elongated "darker gal" in a pleasing interlude of song and patter.

Tuneful Robin Hood Sung To Delight of Big Audience

The endless tunefulness of Robin Hood, that most delightful of American operas, which is truly called on the programs the masterpiece of Reginald de Koven, entertained an audience of goodly proportions at the Atlanta theater last night.

Composer, librettist, the producer, Ralph Dunbar, are American, and very plainly the leading singers, and the chorus are. Mr. Watly Hyde may be. His name is non-committal. Only the story is foreign—the romantic adventures of the Earl of Huntington disguised as the jolly band of outlaws in Sherwood forest away back in the days of Merrie England, when her king was crusading and only came back, as in all well-regulated comic opera, to pardon everybody who needed it, and make all things end happily.

One may not enjoy grand opera and yet love this charming work, which is as old-fashioned as the long-draped riding skirts of the outlaws. And yet it has the charm of the new. In the quaint costume of her grand-mother. Most people have heard the music so many times that it seems like a melody of familiar airs, and yet last night there were more calls for encores than were expected.

Full Voiced Tenor.
Arthur Sherman was the Robin Hood, a full-voiced tenor, who sang with the lover's fervor, and the multiplicity of his best songs given to the outlaws, and the Sheriff, and gallantly Raymond Hunter, Lauren MacAdam and Edward Beck do justice to "Brown October Ale." It takes time tailors to make a man, and the show is a masterpiece of the kind. But Clara Campbell as Maid Marian, sang charmingly the woodland song in "Greenwood Fair," and Stella Deshon in "O Promise Me," found that even multiplicity of widdings had not wearied her. The effect of spontaneity. Of the ensemble, the most successful was the Friar's song in the second act, a setting which gave everybody a good time, performers and audience, although duets, trios, quartets are constant, and made their impression with big volume and excellent quality of tone, and a fine dash and spirit.

Comedy Big Element.
The comedy which is so big an element in the opera, was looked after principally by Edward Beck as the Sheriff, who has had noteworthy predecessors in the part, but acquitted himself well. And Mr. Sweeney, as Friar Tuck, of whom the same may be said, and Rudolph Koch as Guy of Gisborne, spouse with this tuneful romance so often "played softly during the ceremony."

The ensembles were the liveliest part of a spirited performance, in which everybody did his and her part so earnestly as almost to overdo, thus threatening at times the effect of spontaneity. Of the ensembles, the most successful was the Friar's song in the second act, a setting which gave everybody a good time, performers and audience, although duets, trios, quartets are constant, and made their impression with big volume and excellent quality of tone, and a fine dash and spirit.

James W. English, chairman of the board, acted as host, while officers, directors and employees of the bank were there to receive the guests. The new building of the Fourth National bank building at Five Points.

Noted Savants—Here to Hold Negro Education Conference

An important conference on negro education, with a large number of prominent educators, state officials and delegates from various states in attendance, will open today in the senate chamber of the state capitol.

Dr. P. Claxton, commissioner of education, will preside over all sessions Friday and Saturday.

Representatives have been sent to the conference by the governors, state superintendents of education, presidents of both white and negro educational institutions, influential business men and publicists to attend the conference, and a large number are expected to be present at the opening.

"The southern states," said Dr. Claxton, "are spending many millions of dollars annually to improve negro schools, and the amount will, no doubt, be largely increased in the near future. It is important that this money should be used to the best advantage."

There is a great need at this time, he continued, "of having all people understand that it is important for men, women and children to make the most of the best kind of place in which to live, to master the sound principles of farming, and to do everything in the most intelligent understanding."

Sessions during the two days' conference will be devoted to discussion of the work, conditions and needs of colleges of agriculture and mechanic arts, and of the state of the south, he stated. The preparation of well-trained teachers for negro schools, and the conditions of the south, he stated. Addresses of welcome—Hugh M. Doran, governor of Georgia; M. L. Brittain, state superintendent of public instruction of Georgia.

General topics: "The Conditions and Needs of the College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts for Negroes."

It is the duty of the state to provide for the education of the colored people, and to what extent does the education given in these schools take hold on the life and work of the colored people of the southern states?

To what extent does this kind of education take hold on the life and work of the colored people of the southern states?

What changes are needed in the organization and management of these colleges?

What modifications should be made in the curriculum for admission?

What should be the objectives of these institutions?

What changes are needed to make these institutions function in the development of the life and ideals of the colored people of the several states?

What is needed by way of buildings and equipment?

How may these institutions be adequately supported?

How may they be helped by the federal government (a) through the bureau of education, (b) through the state relations service of the department of agriculture, (c) through the federal board for vocational education, and (d) through the state departments of education?

In what way can the people, white and colored, in the several states promote the interest of education through these colleges?

How can legislators be induced to make larger appropriations for their support?

What are the results of the preliminary survey of the survey and statistics, bureau of education, and Dr. C.
